Supernatural, Castiel/Gabriel, falling together

PG(?), short sad piece. I didn't go much into setting/timeline but I am thinking of a 5x04 AU wherein Gabriel survived whatever happened and started going human as he didn't/couldn't leave Earth. But that's way too plotty for this. ^^;;

Gabriel tangles fingers in hair instead of feathers and presses his nose to a neck that is merely human. It scares him when he reaches out on reflex with a sense he can barely use to find that he cannot touch what's not there.

It scares him further to realize that even if Castiel were whole that he is not, and so his fingers tighten in his brother's hair as he wraps an arm around Castiel's chest, pressing close to touch only human skin.